UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

2000 Season Outlook

Heading into his 17th year as the head coach of the Maryland lacrosse program, Dick Edell has a point to prove. Last season, the Terps were not selected to the NCAA Tournament, ending an eight-year run of postseason appearances. The Terps, who played in the 1995, 1997 and 1998 championship games, are striving to get back to the top of the lacrosse world. The Terps (9-5 in 1999) are ranked No. 8 in the preseason coaches' poll.

Attack

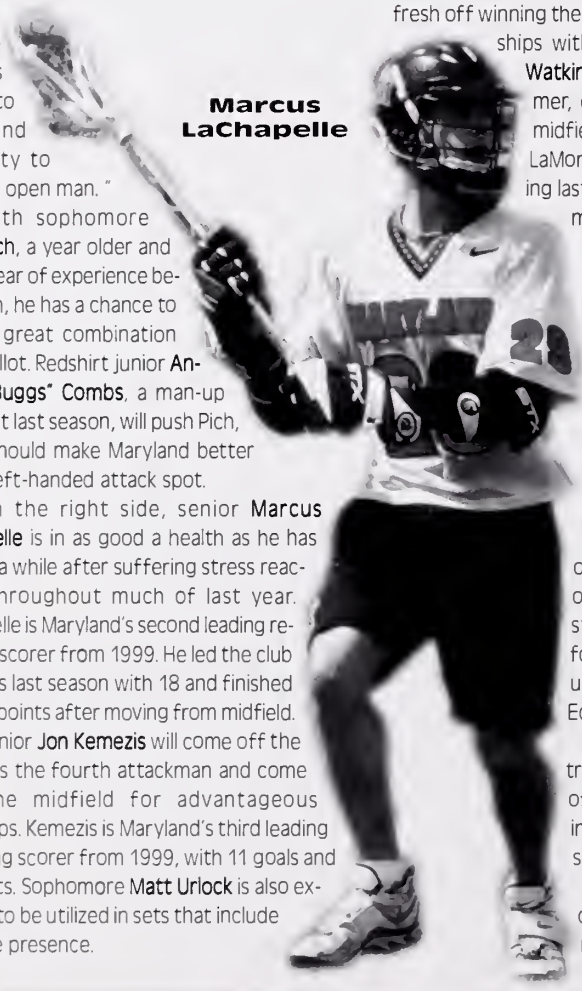
Maryland lacrosse is expected to get a major shot in the arm when redshirt freshman Mike Mollot makes his Terrapin debut in the 2000 season. After missing the entire 1999 season with a broken leg and torn ligaments, the high school sensation will be the key for the Maryland attack. In just two seasons at Sachem High School, Mollot shattered the record book with 209 points (94 goals and 115 assists). He has also been selected as a preseason honorable mention All-American by Face-Off Magazine.

"Going into the season, I am very excited about the presence of Mike Mollot," said Edell. "He has outstanding vision of the field. He is going to bring a great deal of success to our offense with his variety of skills, in particular, his ability to feed and his ability to find the open man."

With sophomore Beau Pich, a year older and with a year of experience behind him, he has a chance to form a great combination with Mollot. Redshirt junior Andrew "Buggs" Combs, a man-up specialist last season, will push Pich, which should make Maryland better at the left-handed attack spot.

On the right side, senior Marcus LaChapelle is in as good a health as he has been in a while after suffering stress reactions throughout much of last year. LaChapelle is Maryland's second leading returning scorer from 1999. He led the club in assists last season with 18 and finished with 27 points after moving from midfield.

Junior Jon Kemezis will come off the bench as the fourth attackman and come into the midfield for advantageous matchups. Kemezis is Maryland's third leading returning scorer from 1999, with 11 goals and 20 points. Sophomore Matt Urlock is also expected to be utilized in sets that include a crease presence.



Marcus LaChapelle

Midfield

Senior captain Brian Zeller will lead the midfield unit in his fifth and final year with the program. Zeller is the Terps' top returning scorer from a season ago when he tallied 24 goals and handed out six assists for 30 points. He led the club in man-up goals with 10. A big season is expected for the 1998 second-team All-American and All-ACC selection.

"We are looking for Brian Zeller to regain his sophomore season form," said Edell. "He started strong last year but fell off and he has come out to prove he is as good as any midfielder in the nation in his senior year."

He has been chosen as a preseason second team All-American by College Lacrosse USA and by Face-Off Magazine.

Junior Chris Malone, a preseason honorable mention All-American by Face-Off Magazine, is expected to have a huge impact this season. Edell is very high on Malone because of his confidence and leadership qualities. Two seasons ago, he earned the team's Most Outstanding Freshman Award and he has continued to build on that over the past two years.

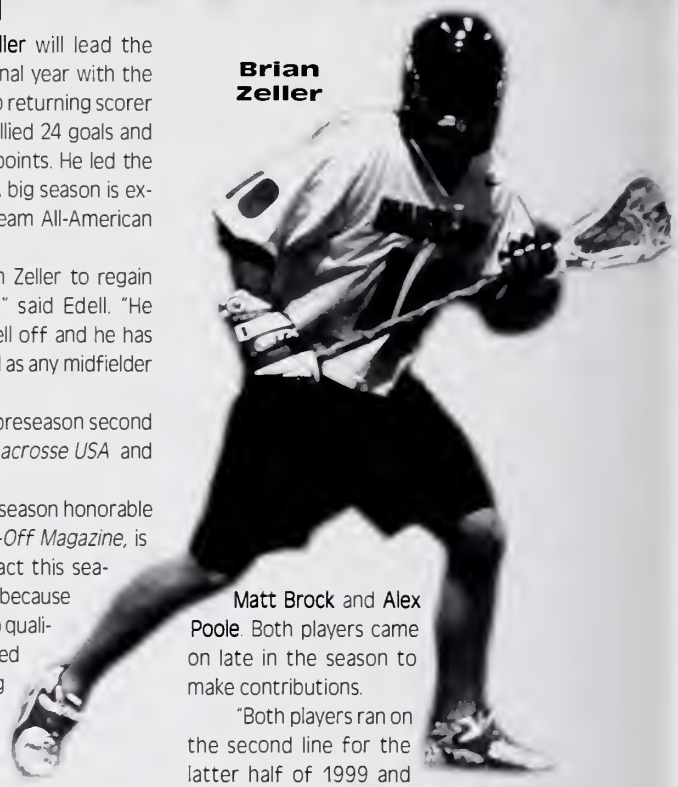
Sophomore Mike LaMonica, fresh off winning the Under-19 World Championships with fellow sophomore Nate Watkins in Australia this past summer, completes Maryland's first midfield heading into the season. LaMonica led all freshmen in scoring last season and is expected to make heavy contributions this season with his great ability to dodge opponents.

"The first line has a great complement of a natural left-hander in LaMonica, an unselfish, feeder-type player with Malone and potential goal-scorer in Brian Zeller," said Edell.

Watkins leads the second midfield line. The winner of the team's Most Outstanding Freshman Award for 1999, Watkins has continued to improve according to Edell.

"He can be a major contributor for us on both ends of the field this year with his impressive size and speed," said the coach.

Two other sophomores compose the second midfield with Watkins — Matt Brock and Alex Poole. Both players came on late in the season to make contributions.



Brian Zeller

"Both players ran on the second line for the latter half of 1999 and they have worked very hard to keep those positions," Edell said. "Brock possesses great speed and quickness and Poole had to be the surprise of last season."

Edell is also excited about his third midfield, entirely made up of freshmen. Ricky Sears, Willy Passavia and Jamie Daue will be kept together at the start of the season to see how they progress. "I think the freshman line can be pretty good in years to come," said the coach.

Defensive Midfield

Maryland features perhaps the nation's top defensive midfielder in senior short-pole Jeff Shirk. Named the "Nastiest Hitter" in the nation by the Baltimore Sun, Shirk has been selected as a preseason first team All-American by Face-Off Magazine. Edell calls Shirk the nation's best at his position. Last season he was named the team's top midfielder and shut down the opponent's top attackers game after game.

"He has made key plays for us ever since he suited up for the first time as a freshman," said Edell. "He is the toughest warrior and I don't think anyone is better than him at his position."

Adding to his responsibilities, Shirk is expected to handle many of the Terps' face-offs this season.

Sophomore Brian Carroll will back up Shirk after gaining experience over the past year. Carroll will also see time as a face-off man.

"We might not have as much experience as we've had on face-offs over the past few years," said Edell. "But, these two players are very athletic and I think we are going to surprise some people."

2000 Season Outlook

Along with Shirk, senior long-pole Geoff Burnham is a four-year performer as well. One of the fastest players on the team, Edell looks for Burnham to continue his tough and physical style of play, which includes full-field rushes to the goal.

Jeff Shirk

Defense

Defense is perhaps Maryland's strongest position, and the Terps return two senior captains in College Lacrosse USA preseason second-team All-American Casey Connor and preseason honorable mention All-American Jason Carrier. Both players have played regularly since their freshman seasons and have been starters for the last two.

Impact freshman Michael Howley is expected to come in and replace departed All-American Chris Lamy.

"We have a wonderful defense," said Edell. "We won't miss a beat with Howley in place of Chris Lamy. Connor is just an outstanding defenseman and Carrier is a wonderful leader and an intelligent unsung hero."

Maryland is deeper on defense than in the past as well, according to Edell. Juniors David Rose and Kevin Necessary along with sophomore Carrington King will come off the bench to provide Maryland with a solid close defense.

Goal

The goalie position is Maryland's biggest question mark heading into the season. With the departure of All-American Kevin Healy, junior Pat McGinnis is being counted upon to step up in his first significant playing time on the collegiate level. McGinnis has played in just 11 games over his first two seasons at Maryland, allowing just 6.13 goals per game in 88 minutes of action.

"I am very confident in Pat's ability to stop the ball," said Edell. "He is quicker than Healy in terms of hand speed and reaction to the ball. He is working on his clearing situations and improving his outlet passes."

Redshirt freshman Dan McCormick begins the year as the backup to McGinnis after sitting out last season. He has worked hard and could see some time.

"McCormick is a youngster who is going to play a lot of lacrosse for us here at Maryland in the future," said Edell. "He is building on some experiences from this past fall, but he is one injury or one bruise away from being in the cage. We have accelerated his development because of that."

Schedule

As usual, the No. 8 Terps face one of the nation's toughest schedules in 2000, taking on six teams ranked in the top 12 of the preseason coaches' poll. Maryland faces defending national champion and No. 1-ranked Virginia, No. 3 Johns Hopkins, No. 5 Duke, No. 10 North Carolina, No. 11 UMBC and No. 12 Navy.

The Terps also face three other teams ranked in the top 20: No. 17 Delaware, No. 18 Cornell and No. 19 Towson. Overall, they face nine of the nation's top 20 teams.

In the final polls of the 1999 season, Maryland was ranked 11th in the final STX/USILA Coaches' Poll and ninth in the final media poll conducted by Face-Off Magazine. Nine of Maryland's 2000 opponents were ranked in the final polls of 1999.

The Terps will also play host to the 2000 ACC Men's Lacrosse Tournament on April 21-23. Duke, North Carolina and Virginia will come to College Park for the conference tournament for the first time since 1993.

The lacrosse universe will also once again center in on Byrd Stadium as Maryland hosts the NCAA Championships, for a record 10th time since the championships started in 1972.

Outlook

As the Terps look to return to the NCAA Tournament and the road to the NCAA Championships, which will be played in Byrd Stadium for the seventh time in eight years, Edell is very hopeful.

"Overall, I feel pretty good about our team," said the coach. "We have to keep the group we have together, which means minimizing injury and playing with the fervor that all Maryland lacrosse teams do."

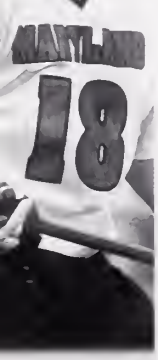
Head Coach Dick Edell



DICK edell

Head Coach
Towson '67
28th season overall
17th season at Maryland

One of the winningest coaches in the history of college lacrosse, Dick Edell is in his 28th year of coaching and 17th at Maryland. The ACC's all-time leader in coaching victories, he is looking to return to the NCAA Tournament for a 16th time, second most of any coach in the sport's history.

The Terps compiled a 9-5 mark in 1999 — marking the 27th straight season an Edell-coached squad finished at or above .500 — following a historic season in 1998.

Edell became the all-time winningest coach in ACC history when the Terps upset No. 1 Loyola in the NCAA semifinals, 19-8 on May 23, 1998. With the win, Edell passed Jim Adams, who had recorded a 137-60 record with Virginia in 15 seasons.

Heading into the 2000 season, Edell's career record at Maryland stands at 147-68.

With a lifetime record of 258-115 over the last 27 years following stints at the University of Baltimore, Army and Maryland, Edell is the second-winningest active coach. Ironically, the only coach Edell trails on the active list is Army coach Jack Emmer (273-146), who succeeded Edell when he came to Maryland.

Last season, Edell moved into fifth on the all-time coaching victories chart, passing Richie Moran (257) and Roy Simmons, Sr. (252). Edell's overall winning percentage of .692 is also among all-time coaching leaders.

Edell has become a fixture in his 17 years in College Park. His players affectionately call him "Big Man," while his resume reflects why he is the "Big Man" among all lacrosse coaches.

In 1998, he led Maryland to its third appearance in the championship game in four years. The Terps qualified for eight consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances from 1991-98 and been to 11 overall with Edell at the controls.

Edell was named the National Coach of the Year by the USILA in 1978 and 1995. He was also selected as the ACC's Coach of the Year in 1989, 1992 and 1998, after leading Maryland to its first ACC championship since the format change in 1989.

Two seasons ago, Edell led Maryland to a school-record 14 wins, posting a 14-3 record. That victory total also marked the eighth time the Terps posted a double-figure win total under his leadership.

The only coach in Maryland history to post 100 victories, Edell led Maryland to a then-school record 12 wins in 1987 and 1995. The 12th victory in 1995 is considered by many the greatest upset in the 28-year history of the NCAA Tournament. The Terps upset previously undefeated and No. 1-ranked Johns Hopkins, 16-8, to advance to the championship game that year.

Edell is also considered one of the premier recruiters in the game, consistently attracting the nation's top talent to College Park year after year. Under Edell, 35 Maryland players have been named to the first, second or third All-America teams, including second-teamer Chris Lamy in 1999.

Five of his student-athletes have won Player of the Year recognition at their respective positions while 11 Terps have been named first team All-Americans. Former Terp and two-time national Goalie of the Year Brian Dougherty represented the United States at the 1998 World Championships.

During the 1998 season, goalie Kevin Healy was named the ACC Player of the Year and Scott Hochstadt earned ACC Tournament Most Valuable Player. Nine Terps were named to the All-America teams led by second team honorees Hochstadt, Healy and Brian Zeller.

Edell came to Maryland in 1984 after seven tremendously successful seasons at Army. He compiled a 66-24 (.733) record with the Cadets and led them to four NCAA appearances.

He broke into the profession in 1968 as the freshman coach at Towson. After two years with the Tigers, Edell spent three years at Calvert Hall College where the Cardinals were MSA Champions in 1971 and 1972.

In 1973 he was hired at the University of Baltimore where he coached for four years and amassed a 45-23 (.661) record. He also coached Baltimore to a Division II national soccer crown in 1975.

Edell was a two-time All-American at Towson State where he graduated with a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1967. He earned his master's degree in education from Western Maryland in 1970 and another master's degree in science from the University of Baltimore in 1976.

The 56-year-old Edell and his wife, Dolores, are the proud parents of four children. Their daughters Lisa and Krissy are both Maryland graduates, while their son Gregg is a senior and plays lacrosse at Dartmouth. Their youngest daughter, Erin, is in 11th grade at Glenelg High School.

Coaching Staff

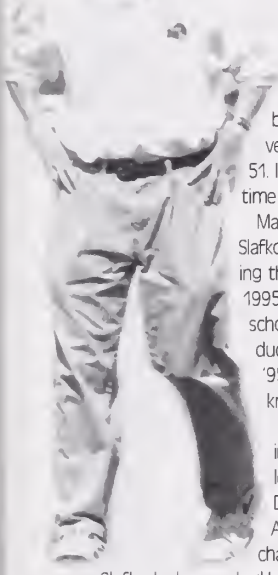
DAVE Slafkosky

Defensive Coordinator
Johns Hopkins '74
17th season at Maryland

Dave Slafkosky and Dick Edell celebrate their 23rd year together as they ready for the 2000 season. When Edell came to Maryland, his only request was that Coach Slaf joins him. Granting Edell's only request was a critical decision that ensured unprecedented success for the program.

Slafkosky was named the defensive coordinator when he joined the Terps in 1984. After leading Maryland to the NCAA semifinals in 1987 and 1989, Edell challenged his old friend to take over the offensive reins in 1991.

Without missing a beat, the Terps would soon experience the same success on offensive end with Slafkosky at the wheel. Maryland would return to the NCAA semifinal in Slafkosky's first year with the offense in 1992. Under Slafkosky's tutelage, Mark Douglas would become a first-team All-American and establish the University of Maryland's single season goal scoring mark of 51. In the same year, Rob Wurzburger would become the all time career goal scorer with 137.



Maryland's offense would continue to be successful under Slafkosky's watch. Qualifying for the NCAA's every year and reaching the finals in 1995. His most successful season had to be 1995, with Scott Marr's new insight, Maryland shattered the school's offensive record books. Scoring 235 goals and producing All-Americans in Kip Fulks and Rob Chomo. After the '95 season , Coach Slaf switched back to the defensive side knowing Maryland was in great shape with Marr in charge.

Maryland's defense has become its trademark with its intimidating physical play. The Terps reached the finals in 1995, led by its National Defenseman of the Year, Dan Radebaugh. Defenseman Dave LaChapelle's play earned him second team All-America honors in 1997 and propelled the Terps into the championship game for the second time in three years.

Slafkosky has worked heavily with 1998 ACC Player of the Year Kevin Healy, who was also a second team All-American. Slafkosky added another All-American honoree to his resume as Chris Lamy was honored by the USILA following the 1999 campaign.

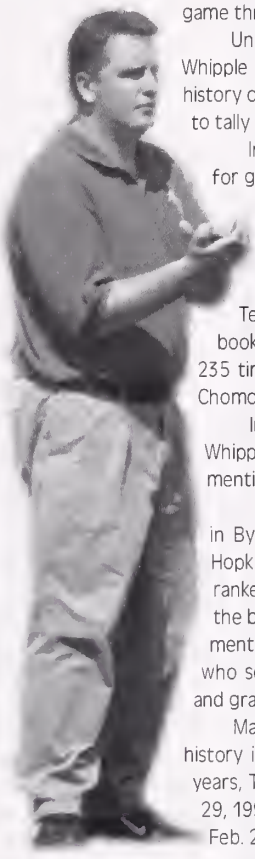
A 1974 graduate of Johns Hopkins, Slafkosky led the Blue Jays to a national championship his senior year as a midfielder.

Slafkosky and his wife of 20 years, Michelle have four children: Daniel (a U.S. Marine), Sarah, Kevin and Alex.

SCOTT marr

Offensive Coordinator
Johns Hopkins '91
6th season at Maryland

Entering his sixth year at Maryland, Scott Marr has taken the Maryland offense to an elite level. The attack has averaged an impressive 12.5 goals per contest under Marr's direction and helped Maryland reach the championship game three of the last five years.



Under Marr's guidance, Matt Hahn and Andrew Whipple became two of the most storied scorers in the history of Maryland lacrosse. The dynamic duo combined to tally 370 points from 1995 through 1998.

In 1998, the Terps shattered the school record for goals in a season with 236. Leading the way was Hahn with 49 and current student assistant Scott Hochstadt with 48. Both attackers were named All-Americans following the 1998 season.

In his first year at College Park, 1995, the Terps shattered the school's offensive record books. Maryland found the net a then-school record 235 times that year. Marr coached Kip Fulks and Rob Chomo to second team All-America status in 1995.

In 1997, his starting attack of Matt Hahn, Andrew Whipple and Scott Hochstadt each earned honorable mention All-America honors under his guidance.

The highlight of Marr's coaching career took place in Byrd Stadium in 1995. Coaching against Johns Hopkins, his alma mater, Maryland outscored the No.1-ranked and previously undefeated Blue Jays, 16-8, for the biggest upset in the history of the NCAA tournament. On that Blue Jay squad was his brother, David, who set the Johns Hopkins record for career assists and graduated in 1996.

University of MARYLAND

LEADING THE WAY INTO the 21st century

- A Carnegie Research-I University
- Member, Association of American Universities
- Flagship of the University System of Maryland
- Division I NCAA Athletics

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Ten years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment.

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

The Campus

The University of Maryland, College Park, is the most comprehensive institution of higher education, research and service in the state. The university offers 100 undergraduate majors, 88 master's programs and 69 doctoral programs in 13 colleges and schools.

The university is one of only 30 public research universities that are members of the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities. It is classified as a Research-I university by the Carnegie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

Among the public universities in the Association of American Universities, Maryland ranks among the top in percentage of African-American undergraduate students. In addition, the university has the largest number of African-Americans and other minority members among its peers.

University of Maryland

Flagship Status

In 1988, the University of Maryland, College Park, was designated as the flagship institution for the University System of Maryland. As well as pursuing a serious research mission and continuing its high level of service to the state, the university rededicated itself to providing the highest quality graduate and undergraduate education. Increased undergraduate opportunities for research and individual study; the development of the College Park Scholars Program and the expansion of the University Honors Program; the genesis of Honors Humanities and Gemstone; the creation of CORE, the general education program; and the establishment of the Center for Teaching Excellence all affirmed the legislature's designation of flagship.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

A Wired World

Students at the University of Maryland are part of an academic community that enjoys free access to networked computer resources and facilities that are among the best in the country. Free computer accounts enable users to store class work on a networked server, download classroom support materials and other electronic information from campus networked resources.

C.D. mote, jr.
University President

C.D. (Dan) Mote Jr. took office as president in September 1998 with a clear vision for taking the University of Maryland down the home stretch to its destiny as one of America's great research universities.

Mote came to Maryland from the University of California at Berkeley, where he had earned all of his degrees, and where he had served in faculty and administration more than 30 years. He had most recently been vice chancellor for university relations.

In Maryland, he found a university already well on its way to achieving the greatness envisioned when the General Assembly declared it the flagship institution of the University System of Maryland. Mote immediately took a leadership role on the Governor's Task Force on Governance, Coordination and Funding of the University System of Maryland to gain greater autonomy and flexibility for the university to pursue its goals. He followed that by working closely with state leaders to boost university funding for new programs, scholarships and faculty, gaining a 10 percent appropriations increase in his first year.

When the legislature had finished its work for the year, Mote spelled out in his inauguration address his vision of Maryland as a great research university, where teaching and research are "inseparable." In this plan, the faculty creates a culture of excellence that permeates the university, student success is the center of all activity, and the extended Maryland family of alumni and friends grows rich in pride and tradition.

High achievement has been Dan Mote's life, from his student days at the University of California through his years as an outstanding teacher and world-renowned researcher and his leadership of a highly successful capital campaign at Berkeley. He arrived in College Park determined to continue the same level of achievement in his new post.

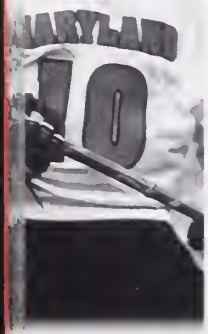
After earning his doctorate in engineering mechanics from Berkeley in 1963, Mote spent a year as a research fellow at the University of Birmingham in England, then three years as assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh before returning to Berkeley in 1967.

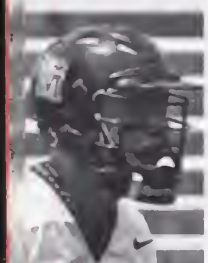
There he stayed for more than 30 years before coming to Maryland. He was promoted to professor in 1973.

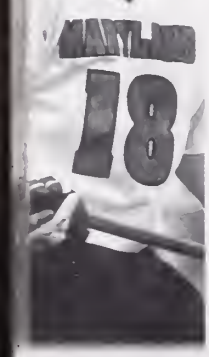
Mote and his wife Patsy live in the President's Residence on the College Park campus. They have two grown children and four grandchildren.

Maryland TERRAPINS

AMONG THE NATION'S BEST







This is Maryland Athletics

At the University of Maryland, winning is not taken lightly. Like the rich history of all its sports programs, championships are a tradition.

Since the 1950s, Maryland has established itself as one of the most successful athletic programs in the nation. This type of success is no accident; it has been built year-by-year on the achievements of outstanding young men and women who were given the opportunity to excel both on and off the field of play. The victories, the championships and the national acclaim are all ingredients of the Maryland athletic program. Student-athletes who attend Maryland are part of a program and a university which thrives on tradition and excellence.

Academic Excellence

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

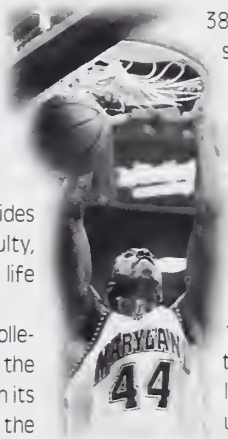
The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletic program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body. Since 1983, 88 percent of freshmen scholarship athletes who completed their eligibility at the University of Maryland earned their degrees.

Goals

The great thing about being a Terrapin is the commitment to hard work and dedication. At the University of Maryland, the athletic department is dedicated to supporting a well-balanced Division I program. Athletic director Deborah A. Yow and her dedicated coaches, administrators and staff have re-engineered the department into a responsive and financially sound model — with a clear vision and a determined drive toward national prominence.

Athletic Success

National championships, conference championships, national rankings and postseason play are all a part of the University of Maryland experience. The University of Maryland has established itself as one of the nation's elite athletic programs. The Terrapins have won 13 national championships, including a record five consecutive by the women's lacrosse team. The Terrapins had plenty of reason to celebrate when it came to intercollegiate athletics in 1998-99, as they posted their second consecutive Top 25 finish in the national Sears Directors' Cup all-sports ranking. Its 38-position jump from the No. 57 spot in 1994-95 to the No. 19 spot in 1997-98 was the greatest in that time by a school not previously ranked in the top 25.

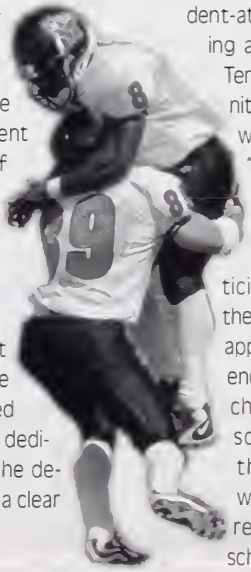


Competition

Wearing the Maryland uniform means playing in front of some of the loudest and most supportive fans in the nation. It means playing against the best teams in the country, in the most prestigious conference in the country, the ACC. It means wearing the school colors with pride. It means doing your best in athletics and academics. It is a unique and special feeling being a Terrapin.

Athletes in the Community

From the media spotlight to the community spotlight, Terrapin student-athletes strengthen the ties of the local community by serving as role models. Community service is a key part of the Terrapins' agenda. Student-athletes support many community programs which help to enrich the lives of Maryland youth while teaching the importance of studying hard and saying "no" to drugs and alcohol. Representatives from the University of Maryland athletic department speak to participants and use their image and the appeal of sports to encourage Maryland children to stay in school, improve their reading and writing skills, and to receive their high school diplomas.



Athletic Director Deborah A. Yow

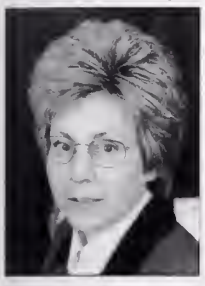
YOW TO ASSUME PRESIDENCY OF NACDA IN JULY 2000

Dr. Deborah A. Yow has led Terrapin athletics to balanced budgets, high levels of productivity and achievement and a vigorous commitment to excellence throughout its operations. She is in her sixth year as Maryland's director of athletics.

Since taking over at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

• Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.

• Balanced all five of the more than $25 million annual budgets (the first balanced budgets for the Terrapins in 10 years).



• Improved graduation rates for student-athletes, above that of the general student population, in three of those five years.

• Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 10 percent of all NCAA Division I schools.

• Reorganized and upgraded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 85% and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 270% during her tenure at Maryland.

• Implemented a strategic management model.

• Paid off $7 million in operating debt accrued before her arrival in 1994.

• Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fundraising applications.

• Significantly improved customer service in every area.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past five years, Debbie Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves." As a manager and leader, she clearly models these principles.

Dr. Yow is a member of the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee. In addition, she will become president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in July 2000, and was recently singled out by Street & Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading athletic administrators in the U.S.

A former basketball coach, she began her coaching career at the high school level in North Carolina before taking over as head women's coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also achieved an outstanding coaching record as head coach at the University of Florida. She later moved into athletic administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as A.D. at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics, management, and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire Terrapin athletic program, Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets and our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our successes ... and the basis for our bright future."

Academic Support

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletics program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body.

The mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit, headed by assistant athletic director Demetrius Marlowe, is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that enhance the academic progress, facilitate the career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of every student-athlete.

MAPS Directory

This directory, the Maryland Athletes Placement Source, is produced annually by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin their professional careers.

Distributed to more than 1,000 corporations and businesses around the region, prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resumé information relative to academic, career and personal achievements.

Career Information Fairs

Career Awareness in Academic Support is expanding to include a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the semester. Career awareness is an ongoing process and includes assistance with resume writing and interview skills. The end of the semester brings a career awareness fair which hosts a number of professionals with whom student-athletes can learn about career interests and planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen area of interest.

Team Maryland

Team Maryland is a class taught in conjunction with the campus' James McGregor Burns Academy of Leadership in which student-athletes are exposed to leadership and public speaking skills and techniques. The program consists of a group of volunteer student-athletes who learn about the challenges for children in the community by speaking to different elementary schools about drug abuse and the importance of education. In addition to school visits, Team Maryland has hosted visits from local schools to our campus.

Strength & Conditioning

Collegiate lacrosse has evolved to the point where total physical preparation is necessary to successfully compete on the Division I level. It has become extremely important to strength and conditioning coach Craig Fitzgerald that all of the Terrapin athletes are prepared through training to maximize their athletic development in terms of strength and conditioning. The high level of dedication by the members of the lacrosse team have brought about spectacular achievements in the weight room and in competition.

The objective of the strength and conditioning program for lacrosse is based on the enhancement of performance as well as the prevention of injuries. Fitzgerald makes every attempt to accommodate the different training needs of each individual athlete.

The preparation of a student-athlete to compete in lacrosse goes beyond strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, flexibility, plyometrics, nutrition, agility and conditioning are also important ingredients in the preparation of the lacrosse team here at Maryland. The strength and conditioning staff puts a great emphasis on improving the quickness of the Terps through increased mechanical efficiency and the improvement of acceleration of maximum velocity.
